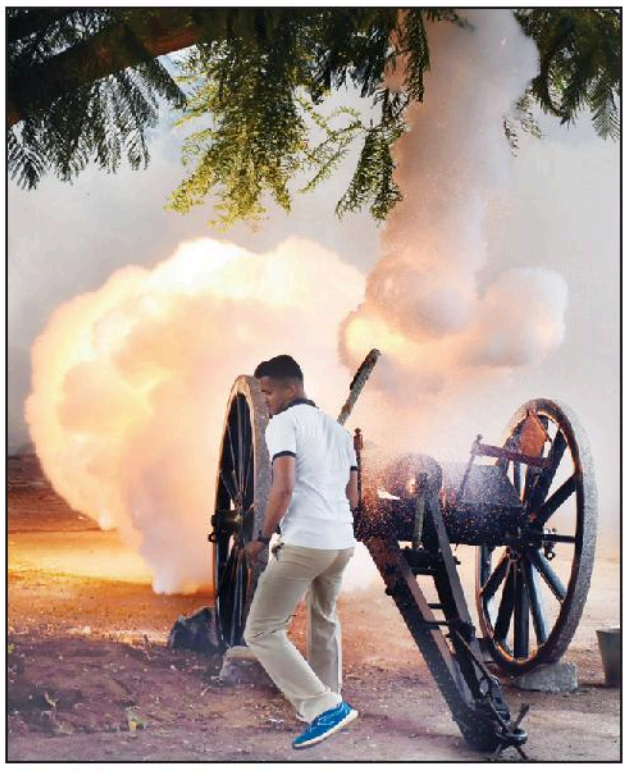
Cannon firing drill for Dasara jumbos begins

- Palace tourists have a glimpse of ancient guns booming
- Loaded tranquilliser darts ready in case elephants run amok



Mysuru, Sept. 30 (MTY&BCT)- Except for a couple of body jerks by Dasara elephants — first-timer Ashwathama, second-timer and the youngest Lakshmi — none of the pachyderms displayed fear or anxiety during the first 21-round cannon firing practice held at Mysore Palace premises this noon. A little fear was observed in Gopalaswamy.

Lead elephant Abhimanyu, generally known for his daring attitude was close to the cannons and stood like a rock, without even showing slightest signs that he is disturbed. He stayed cool with his female companions Kaveri and Chaitra. With only a few days left for the start of the festivities, the cannon firing practice to familiarise the elephants to the booming sound from the artillery has begun.

Usually, seven cannons are used to fire 21 rounds (three each at a time) and the practice is held for three days for the finale where the 21-gun salute is accorded soon after the inauguration of the Jumboo Savari on Vijayadashami Day. While Oct. 5 will be the second day of practice, the last date is yet to be announced. Today, over 32 horses from cavalry too were part of the exercise.

Cannon practice was conducted at the parking lot of the Palace premises by personnel from the City Armed Reserve to acquaint the jumbos to the loud noise so that they are not side-tracked to the noise during Jumboo Savari. Last year due to COVID, the elephant team was stationed near Varahaswamy Temple inside the Palace while the cannons were fired at the parking lot.

If Opposition BJP rules MCC, who will oppose?

Council fails to resolve row over Opposition Leader; Issue now before legal experts

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RK&DM)- The MCC Council meeting, which took place this morning, failed to solve the row over who should be the Opposition Leader as BJP — which was in the Opposition all these days — is now governing the civic body with the election of party's Sunanda Palanetra as the Mayor. This was the first Council meeting held after Sunanda Palanetra became the Mayor on Aug. 25.

During the course of the meeting, Ayub Khan of Congress, also former Mayor, wanted to know who the Opposition Leader was as the Congress-JD(S) alliance which ruled the MCC in the current tenure, had collapsed and the BJP had come to power. Soon, JD(S) Corporators led by S.B.M. Manju intervened and sought the resignation of Anwar Baig of the Congress, who was elected as the Deputy Mayor in the previous coalition.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Human life is considered a unique blessing. This uniqueness does not lie merely in the birth as a human being but in the achievement of the purpose for which it is meant and that is self-awareness. The one who is not self-aware cannot have peace and the one who has no peace cannot contribute to peace and universal brotherhood. As an ardent devotee of Ram, Gandhiji would often sing the refrain of his devotional song: 'Ishwar Allah tere naam, sabko sanmati de Bhagwan. Raghupati Raghav Raja Ram, patita pavan Sitaram.' It marks unity in diversity and underscores the very purpose of interfaith harmony.

"The more our divine link with the Almighty is strengthened, the more quickly our negativity and narrow-mindedness vanish to smoothen our life," says Nirankari Baba Hardev Singhji. Human life is the crown creation of the universe. The same divine spirit permeates all; we should heartily love them all without any wrangles.

Satguru Mata Sudikshaji says that oblivious of their spiritual identity, the people have raised suffocating walls amongst themselves by not going beyond their faith, resulting in loss of love and respect culminating in hatred and violence. Reversing the gear from intolerance to love and peace is possible only when men treat each other like brothers. This is possible only through the realisation of the Fatherhood of God. We can create our spiritual identity by identifying ourselves with God, ingrained with divine virtues and living up to them, truly proving to be the crown creation of the universe.

Runs away with museum money, calls it art

Aalborg: A Danish museum loaned artist Jens Haaning tens of thousands of dollars and asked him to recreate two of his most popular artworks, which involved the use of real banknotes, only he took the money and ran, an act he describes as an original work of art.

The Kunsten Museum of Modern Art in Aalborg asked Jens Haaning to recreate two of his most popular artworks, one he had produced in 2011 called 'An Average Danish Annual Income,' which featured krone banknotes in a frame and an earlier version, 'An Average Austrian Annual Income.' For the original works, Haaning had borrowed the money from banks, but this time the museum agreed to loan him the cash from its limited reserves. He required 3,28,000 kroner for the Danish annual salary and 25,000 euros for the Austrian salary. Only instead of recreating the artworks, he just sent the museum two empty canvases and the message that him keeping the money they had lent him was the actual artwork.

Overproof rum with Carolina reaper peppers

New York: When it comes to "spicy" liquor, one will have a tough time finding something hotter than this crazy combination of overproof rum infused with the world's hottest pepper, the Carolina Reaper.

The World's Hottest Shot comes in a deceptively small and harmless-looking 45ml bottle that can be gulped in one go. But one should know that this rum overproof (over 63% alcohol by volume) and has also been infused with Carolina Reaper peppers for at least three months. The result is a barely stomachable concoction that is almost guaranteed to make one gag, sweat and scream in agony waiting for the fire inside to stop burning.

Bad roads, a blot on heritage city

Sir,

It is unfortunate that MUDA is busy in e-auctioning of sites without developing or maintaining the necessary infrastructure. No need to visit Europe or America to study how roads are to be maintained. Small States like Goa have such good roads. The tourist places there are so well-developed and maintained, it makes one wonder why not in Namma Mysuru?

Our city roads irrespective of the areas are so bad that most of the two-wheel riders develop spinal problems with unplanned, invisible humps adding to the misery. When the roads are unusable, why have the humps?

When most of the other neighbouring States are developing, unfortunately our State's most visited tourist place Mysuru has crumbling infrastructure.

It is high time the authorities concerned put together all the resources and plan to have good motorable roads.

No fee hike this year in private Engineering Colleges: Minister

Bengaluru, Sept. 30 (UNI)- A consensual agreement has been reached between the Karnataka Government and private Colleges to not hike the fees in engineering courses in private Colleges, Minister for Higher Education Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan said yesterday.

The decision was taken at a meeting with representatives of private Engineering Colleges. Following the agreement, the fees for engineering courses in private Colleges for students who secure admission this year under Government quota will continue as earlier in two different slabs of Rs. 65,340 and Rs. 58,806, the Minister said.

"The other important decision drawn in the meeting was that a maximum cap of Rs. 20,000 each has been fixed for fees collected in the form of 'miscellaneous fees' and 'skill fees'. This decision has been taken as per the recommendations of a Committee headed by Prof. Karisiddappa, Vice-Chancellor, Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU)," he said.

"The other major decision is that starting from this year, the admission fees, miscellaneous fees and skill fees should not be remitted at Colleges.

Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan

Now, these should be remitted at the Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA). Earlier, 'miscellaneous fees' used to vary from College to College starting from Rs. 10,000 up to Rs. 70,000. But now this should not exceed Rs 20,000," he said.

"Before prescribing the 'miscellaneous fees', Colleges should notify the purposes for which it is being collected. The same information needs to be provided to KEA, Department of Technical Education and VTU and published on the website. This also should be remitted with KEA," the Minister said.

Earlier, there was a provision to pay admission fees at Colleges, but now onwards this also should be paid at KEA, he said, adding that this decision has been taken to eliminate the confusions that existed.

Some Colleges also used to collect 'skill fees' for providing additional skill training to increase the employability of students. This was optional and the fees for this used to vary from College to College. Now, a cap has been fixed of a maximum of Rs. 20,000. This will have three slabs of Rs. 10,000, Rs. 15,000 and Rs. 20,000. A team of VTU will inspect Colleges and fix any one of these depending on the standard of training facilities and quality, which also should be remitted to KEA, the Minister said.

While private Colleges had pressed for an increase in fees by 30 percent, the Committee headed by Prof. Karisiddappa had recommended a hike of 15-25 percent. But in view of COVID, representatives of private Colleges were convinced against a hike.

Engineering education in Kannada: The Minister also said that engineering education in Kannada will begin in four Colleges from the current year — Maharaja Institute of Technology, Mysuru (Mechanical), Bheemanna Khandre Institute of Technology, Bhalki (Civil); BLDAE VP Dr. P.G. Halakatti College of Engineering, Vijayapura (Civil); SJC Institute of Technology, Chikkaballapura (Mechanical).

Those who betray Hindu sentiments can't win polls, warns Vedike

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra addressing the Hindu Jagaran Vedike members who were staging a protest in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple at the Palace North Gate in city on Tuesday.

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RKB&DM)- The Hindu Jagaran Vedike held a demonstration in protest against the razing down of Huchhagani Mahadevamma Temple in Nanjangud taluk of the district, in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple at the Palace North Gate here on Tuesday. Addressing the protesters, Vedike's South India Organisational Secretary Jagadish Karanth said that those who hurt Hindu sentiments will not be able to win the next elections.

Strongly condemning the razing down of the centuries old temple, he said that the entire Assembly has condemned the action. Contending that the authorities cannot go against the sentiments of Hindus in the future, he said that the entire Hindu Samaja will unite in defeating those who play with Hindu sentiments.

Observing that the Supreme Court has not directed for demolition of any places of worship, he welcomed the State Government's decision to introduce a Bill on conservation of places of worship.

Referring to the Bharat Bandh called by farmer organisations, Karanth opined that the Bandh should have been successful for the cause of farmers. But instead, the Bandh failed to evoke a good response due to political interference, he noted and added that any Movement with political motives is bound to fail.

Home Minister visits protest venue

The State's Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, who was in city on Tuesday to take part in official programmes, sprung a surprise by visiting the Hindu Jagarana Vedike's protest site.

Addressing the protesters, Jnanendra said that the Huchhagani Temple was razed due to a flawed understanding of the Apex Court order by the authorities.

Pointing out that he has come to know of the entire facts concerning the temple demolition, he said that the issue was discussed in the just concluded Assembly Session too and the Government has come up with a Bill on conserving places of worship.

Arguing that no Government had brought such a Bill before so quickly, he said that though there may be some lapses in the Bill, it will be rectified and the Chief Minister too has repeatedly asserted that the Government was for conservation of places of worship.

Vedike office-bearers Lohit Urs, Narasimhegowda and others were present.

Alleged harassment to farmers by Banks

DC chairs meeting of farmer leaders and Bank officials

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RK&KS)- Following a complaint lodged by farmer leaders on Sept. 6 alleging that Banks were violating RBI guidelines and were harassing farmers who had taken loans, Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Bagadi Gautham chaired a meeting of farmer leaders and Bank representatives at his Office here yesterday.

Sugarcane Growers Association President Kurubur Shanthakumar, explaining the harassment being meted out by farmers told the DC that as per RBI guidelines, Banks were not supposed to ask for surety from farmers who seek loan for Rs. 2 lakh, but a few Banks were demanding surety for the same and even to give Rs. 10,000 loan.

Alleging that a few Banks were also getting the surety properties registered in Sub-Registrar Offices, Shanthakumar said that the Banks were harassing farmers in the guise of loan recovery, which was resulting in farmers pledging gold of their family members for high interest rates to repay the loans when they were already suffering losses due to COVID pandemic. He urged the DC to inform the Banks not to harass farmers and issue an order in this regard.

Replying to the allegations against them, Bank representatives told the DC that they were not getting the properties registered for Rs. 2 lakh loans, but for loans for bigger amount.

Meanwhile, the DC said that there was no need to issue a new order but there was a need to implement and follow the existing RBI guidelines from the Banks. He told the Bank representatives not to violate RBI guidelines but follow the guidelines properly.

The Bank representatives said that they would issue a circular to their branches asking the officials concerned to follow the existing RBI guidelines and not to violate them.

Officials and representatives of various Banks including Co-operative Banks, leaders of various Farmer Associations were present at the meeting.

HC upholds death penalty of psychopath Umesh Reddy

Umesh Reddy

Bengaluru, Sept. 30 (Agencies)- The Karnataka High Court yesterday cleared the way for the hanging of serial killer and rapist Umesh Reddy who sexually assaulted, robbed and murdered several women in different parts of the country, and also broke out of prison three times.

The Bench rejected the convict's appeal to commute the death penalty awarded to him to a life sentence. Justices Aravind Kumar and Pradeep Singh Yerur noted that the nature of the crimes did not merit any leniency. President Ram Nath Kovind has already rejected his mercy petition.

Umesh Reddy raped, robbed and killed over 22 women. Most of his victims were from Karnataka but a lot of the victims did not complain about the rapes due to social stigma.

Reddy was first arrested in 1997 in a rape and murder case. He managed to flee from Ballari Hindalga prison when he was in judicial custody.

Police could not trace him until another rape and murder of a widow surfaced in Chitradurga in 1998. Reddy was arrested but he again escaped from Police custody while being taken to Court.

Investigators later traced the house he had taken on rent and found two kilograms of gold and other stolen property. But what revealed the psychotic mind of the killer were bags full of women's inner clothing. The accused seemed to enjoy wearing the clothes of his victims.

Prison break

Apart from being a dreaded rapist and killer, Umesh Reddy was also an expert prison breaker. He escaped from jail three times. Ballari Hindalga prison is the biggest in Karnataka and one of the safest. Almost all the notorious criminals are held there. There is no history of any prisoners escaping from high-security jail, except Umesh Reddy.

After escaping in 1998, he was caught in Bengaluru in 2002 at a salon in Yeshwanthpur. Umesh Reddy confessed to 18 rapes and murders, out of which the Police were able to prove 11 in Court.

Sex maniac and psychopath

Umesh Reddy was like a nomad and he travelled across the country. He never stayed in the same place for over a year. He would target women who were alone at home and broke into their houses during the night. He would then rape the victims, rob them and murder them. He is a psychopath and enjoyed killing women.

Interrogation also revealed his modus operandi of targeting single women, widows and housewives, after watching them for sometime. He entered their houses on the pretext of seeking drinking water or rooms for rent. He threatened them with weapons or choked them, raped them, while unconscious or dead and made away with valuables and their inner clothing.

Once a Constable

He was a Police Constable before he was dismissed on charges of rape. He is also a fugitive former employee of a Central Police organisation. This gave him an understanding of the working of the Police Department.

He knew how to cover his tracks, making it difficult for the Police to catch him. But his luck ran out every time. He has been in jail for a large part of his life. Now he is headed to the gallows.

Countdown for Mysuru Dasara - 2021

MYSURU DASARA
Celebrations Since 1610 AD
Oct. 7 - 15, 2021

- Golden Throne assembling at Amba Vilas Durbar Hall tomorrow
- Live streaming of festivities from Oct. 2 on website, YouTube

Mysuru, Sept.30 (MTY, DM& BCT)- Preparations for the 412th Nada Habba is going at a brisk pace and the Government has announced that former Chief Minister and senior politician S.M. Krishna will inaugurate the annual 10-day festival (nine days this year) atop the Chamundi Hill on Oct. 7.

While last year the celebrations were dedicated to COVID Warriors, this year's theme is yet to be finalised and announced. The festivities have been scaled down for the second consecutive year due to the pandemic and the Jumboo Savari will be held on Oct. 15 within the Palace premises like previous year instead of a 6-km procession till Bannimantap Torchlight Parade Grounds.

The city is wearing a bridal look and plans are on to implement a 100-km illumination this time. Elephants are being trained to acclimate with city environs along with its hustle and bustle and also made familiar with cannon firing.

Wooden Ambari

Howdah Elephant and team captain Abhimanyu will be trained in carrying wooden howdah in the run up for him to carry the Golden Howdah on the day of Vijayadashami. The practice of mounting wooden howdah will begin from Oct. 1.

Before the wooden howdah is mounted on the mighty Abhimanyu, pujas will be performed to the crane near the residence of the royal family. First, Gaadhi-Namdha (a cushion-like material) will be fastened on Abhimanyu's back on which the wooden howdah, weighing 250 kg, will be placed and secured with ropes.

Sand bags will also be placed to bring the weight to 600 kgs. This will be done to get Abhimanyu acclimatised carrying the weight of the Golden Howdah which is 750 kg.

From Oct. 2, Abhimanyu will be made to carry 750 kg (sometimes up to 1,000kg) till the day before Ayudha Puja so that he can bear the weight with ease.

Live streaming

As the Dasara celebrations will be traditional and simple, the focus will be on virtual streaming and viewing of the festivities. Though live streaming of Dasara events was done for earlier editions of Dasara, the District Administration is chalking out plans to reach out to maximum number of viewers this time.

The Jumboo Savari procession has been restricted to the Palace premises, with only limited people allowed in attendance. Not to disappoint tourists, all programmes will be screened live online.

Beginning Oct. 2, one can get the updates on the annual festival on Dasara official website. All the events will be telecast live on the website that will be launched on the day. Besides, the Department of Information and Public Relations will also make arrangements for live streaming on YouTube.

MCC undertakes road patch works ahead of Dasara

Patch works in progress on M.G. Road in front of JSS Hospital this noon.

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (YDS&KS)- With the inauguration of Dasara festival scheduled on Oct. 7, a quick fix solution to the pothole-filled city roads is underway in many parts of the city, especially in the Central Business District. Patchworks are a bane for this Heritage City and this routine is followed religiously by the official machinery and the political class every year.

This year too, the works are on in war-footing with just 7 days left for Dasara to begin. As concrete road was laid around Mysore Palace and Chamaraja Double Road, rest of the roads are filled with potholes and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is filling potholes and undertaking other road works in a hurried manner.

Various roads such as N.S. Road, Ashoka Road, Irwin Road, M.G. Road, Vinoba Road, Dhanvantri Road, Valmiki Road and KRS Road etc., which were dug up several months ago to undertake various works, have not been asphalted and now these roads have been filled with crater-like potholes. These roads become the roads to hell especially during rains as rain water gets filled in the potholes making it difficult for motorists to identify road and potholes.

MCC Executive Engineer Ranjith Kumar, speaking to SOM, said MCC has undertaken pothole-filling works at a cost of Rs. 1 crore and the works would be launched in Ward 51 today.

Pointing out that the tender for the pothole-filling works has been awarded to Mahadevu and Ramesh of city, Ranjith Kumar said that the works would be completed in 8 to 10 days besides stating that the completion of works could be delayed by two or three days in case of rain.

He said that pothole-filling works are undertaken on New Sayyaji Rao Road, M.G. Road, Somasundaram Circle, Mysuru Zoo Road, Maharana Pratap Circle, Sathyaharishchandra Road, Hanumanthanagar Road, Jodi Tenginamara Road, Siddiqi Nagar, HUDCO Layout, Mysuru-Bengaluru Main Road, PF Office Road, Indira Gandhi Road, Sultan Road, Azeez Sait Nagar Main Road, Yaraganahalli Main Road, Sathagalli Main Road, Male Mahadeshwara Road, Dewan's Road, B.N. Road, D.D. Urs Road, Ramavilas Road, JLB Road and other roads.

Pointing out that median and road-divider painting works are undertaken at a cost of Rs. 50 lakh, Ranjith Kumar said that a massive three-day cleaning campaign will be held to remove mud and stones on roadsides. Around 60 earth-moving machines and 100 tipper vehicles and tractors will be used for the purpose which will be provided by contractors for free.

S.M. Krishna thanks CM for Dasara inauguration invite Bengaluru, Sept. 30- A day after the Government announced that former Chief Minister S.M. Krishna will inaugurate this year's Dasara atop Chamundi Hill on Oct. 7, the veteran leader has thanked CM Basavaraj Bommai for the invite.

In a letter to the CM, Krishna said that Dasara has not lost its grandeur and splendour in the past 400 years of celebration.

Pointing out that democratically elected Governments have continued to celebrate Dasara after the end of the rule of Mysore Maharajas, without any changes in the customs and traditions that are followed, Krishna said that he feels virtuous for having been selected to inaugurate Dasara.

Noting that he comes from Mandya, where farmers owe a lot to Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, he said that he will pray to Goddess Chamundeshwari to free the country from Corona, which has been causing havoc across the globe.

Thanks District Minister

Krishna has also thanked Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar for inviting him to inaugurate Dasara. Highlighting the achievements of Somashekar, Krishna said he has learnt that the Minister had collected Rs. 3.75 crore for Mysuru Zoo maintenance during pandemic. Pointing out that Somashekar also has the record of contributing Rs. 65 crore collected from Co-op. Societies to CM's COVID Relief Fund, which is the highest donation by any Govt. Department.

Cannon firing drill for Dasara jumbos

This year, however, the elephants were brought to the parking lot and as a precaution, Ashwathama, Lakshmi and Vikrama were tied to trees. Ashwathama is a first-timer while Lakshmi is the second time participant and she is the youngest of the lot. Vikrama, though a veteran, was tied as he has been undergoing after-effects of musth.

Interestingly, two loaded tranquilliser syringes were kept on top of a Forest Department jeep's bonnet ready to be used in case any elephant panics and runs amok due to the cannon firing sound. A gun and other equipment too were on display. Usually, these items are kept inside the jeep during rehearsals and this is for the first time they were on display.

Cannon firing was witnessed by a number of people today including tourists who had come to see the Mysore Palace. Many of them were seen exclaiming "Wow" to the dexterity of the Policemen who skilfully fired the cannons. Apart from tourists, many Mysureans too came to the venue to have a glimpse.

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta and Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. K. Karikalan were present.

If Opposition BJP rules MCC, who will oppose?

Mayor Sunanda Palanetra addressing the MCC Council meeting in city this morning as MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy looks on.

As a verbal duel broke out, the Council Secretary, who referred to the MCC by-laws, said that there were certain procedures to be followed in the election of the Opposition Leader and the issue can be taken up at the next meeting. MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy said that the matter will be resolved after seeking legal opinion.

But Manju insisted that Ashwini Ananthu become the Opposition Leader as the JD(S) had the biggest numerical strength after the ruling BJP. However, the matter could not be resolved as Congress and JD(S) members continued with their arguments and counter-arguments.

Earlier, at the start of the meeting, Pallavi Begum of BSP (Bahujan Samaj Party) raised the issue of land allotment to betel leaf growers of Yelethota near Chamundipuram.

She urged the MCC to make an announcement on the issuance of title deeds to 46 betel leaf growers who were promised 5 guntas of land each as compensation.

But the Council, saying that the Finance Committee was yet to approve the MCC's proposal, refused to make any announcement which riled Pallavi Begum.

After a heated debate with Pallavi continuing to insist on her demand amid the din, the Council agreed to take up the issue at the next meeting.

Shobha Sunil of Congress took the ruling party to task for allowing large-scale celebrations of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's birthday in violation of Government's COVID-19 SOPs while the same MCC had imposed restrictions on Ganeshotsava.

The meeting was cut short in the afternoon as the Mayor and the Commissioner had to leave for Delhi to attend a Swachh Bharat Mission meet tomorrow.

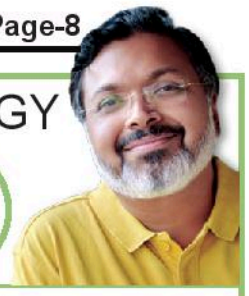
DECODING MYTHOLOGY



Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Using Puranas for Politics

After the humiliating defeat of Indians in 1857, there was little doubt that the British were the villains. Indians began using an innovative approach to express their rage and their desire to overthrow the enemy. They enacted stories from the Puranas on stage as metaphors. That way they did not attract the attention of the authorities while whipping up anti-British sentiment.

In Odisha and Andhra Pradesh, for example, the story of Narasimha became a popular theme. The powerful and arrogant Hiranyakashipu, who considered himself lord of all that he surveyed, reminded the audience of the colonial masters who had ruined the local economy. Prahalad, though son of Hiranyakashipu, worshipped Vishnu. For the audience, Prahalad embodied the people under rule of the adharmi king (the British) who is outsmarted and killed by the man-lion Narasimha (Hinduism? India?), ushering in an era of prosperity.

In Maharashtra, the story of Kichaka was told to whip up patriotic frenzy. In the Mahabharata, Draupadi is forced to serve as a maid in the Palace of King Virata and is abused by the King's lout of a brother-in-law, Kichaka. On stage, very cleverly, the playwrights used Virata to represent Queen Victoria who turns a blind eye to the wrongdoings of local Governors of India.

Draupadi, the maid, who is humiliated, embodies India, and Bhima, who finally kills Kichaka, as the audience cheers, becomes the symbol of the patriotic youth who rebelled violently against the Raj. The British banned a play based on this theme in 1910.

Ramayana was an all time favourite in the Gangetic plains, with Sita embodying India, and Ravana embodying the Raj. In Mughal times, Ravana embodied the Muslim Kings who imposed jizya tax and broke Hindu temples to control the native Hindu population. Local Kings and Zamindars, who could not openly rebel against the Mughal Empire, expressed their frustration by burning effigies of Ravana during Dasara festivities. When the British replaced Muslim Kings, Ravana became the symbol of the Raj during Ramlila celebrations. All this was done without subtlety, with passionate dialogues revealing the underlying politics.

In Bengal, writers equated Durga and Kali with the motherland. By motherland, Bengali writers such as Bankim Chandra Chatterjee, who wrote Anand Math, meant united province of Bengal. They did not quite mean India as we know it today. The dark and naked Kali was seen as India stripped of her wealth and power.

The radiant and bejewelled and powerful Durga was seen as India in all her glory. Bengali writers prayed that this fierce Chandi would one day destroy the British as she destroyed Mahishasura. Eventually this idea of Durga-Chandi informed the idea of Bharat Mata that is now the icon of the aggressively political Hindutva movement.

With the British gone, the Hindu Right views the demon to be killed as everyone who opposes Hindutva — from secular forces to Marxist, Islamic, Christian and Western forces. Politics may change but there is always a political enemy, and so the Puranas lend themselves to serve as communication and even propaganda tools to whip up popular sentiment. Hiranyakashipu, Kichaka, Ravana or Mahishasura, these Puranic villains can embody any political threat.

MGP holds interaction on 'Lakes in Mysuru'

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (BCT)- The city of Mysuru has always been known to be among the greener and better planned cities of India. The greenery and water bodies surrounding the city have always been subject of research and also conservation. But of late, the number of water bodies in and around the city has dropped to 34 from 72.

"In Nanjangud, the banks of River Kapila, the number of lakes has fallen to 14 from 28. Lakes of Mysuru are disappearing for various reasons, primarily encroachments," said Water Conservationist U.N. Ravi Kumar.

He was speaking on the topic 'Lakes in Mysuru' during an interaction organised by Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) recently where he cited a report from EMPRI (Environmental Management and Policy Research Institute) that warned against the potential health risks to human lives as a majority of the water bodies in Mysuru and Nanjangud are contaminated.

The EMPRI report 'Evolving Sustainable Conservation Strategies for Water bodies of Mysuru-Nanjangud Local Planning Area', released four years ago states that a majority of water bodies are affected due to encroachment, unabated inflow of sewage and dumping of solid waste. It recommends checking discharge of effluents to water bodies and calls for immediate attention to conserve them.

Kukkarahalli Lake

"Kukkarahalli Lake, spread across 49 hectares in the heart of the city is in need of immediate attention for stopping entry of sewage. The main source of freshwater to the lake is Poornaiah Canal. The Mysuru City Corporation, the University of Mysore and the district authorities have the collective responsibility of maintaining and safeguarding this lake," he noted.

The many Rajakaluves or storm water drains, which are also the main source of water to Kukkarahalli Lake, have been encroached upon at several places. No action has been taken to clear the encroachments. "Facing shortage of funds, the University has not done much to protect the lake and therefore the district authorities must provide funds for safeguarding the water body. The lake ecosystem was disturbed due to desilting of fertile soil from the banks," Ravi Kumar said.

A report from the National Institute of Engineering (NIE) claimed that water from as far as Bommenahalli Lake, which is about 21 km from the lake, joins Kukkarahalli Lake. EMPRI study has suggested reduction of anthropogenic pressures in lakes and to restore and conserve the lakes by seeking cooperation from the people and also by motivating citizens about the importance and benefits of maintaining the lakes, he noted.

Karanji, Lingambudhi Lake

Diverting his attention on Karanji Lake, Ravi Kumar said that the scenic lake under the control of Mysuru Zoo has been also encroached upon, including the portions of Rajakaluve that brings fresh water to the lake. "Karanji Lake precincts have tall trees where migratory birds roost. Three years ago, This lake had dried up fully and desilting was done to deepen the lake for impounding more rainwater," he added.

Some portions of Lingambudhi Lake area that extended up to 3.6 hectares were acquired for the purpose of constructing the Outer Ring Road and a few layouts too have encroached upon the lake area. The sewage flow into the lake has not been addressed fully, he said. "The lake conservation and rejuvenation is a slow process that may require sustained efforts over a long period of time with continuous monitoring, repeated data collection, regulation of encroachment and pollution analysis with appropriate action. The conservation strategies suggested are lake-land protection, pollution control, lake restoration, community participation and legal framework," he added.

Holistic plan

"The lakes that existed in Mysuru in 2001 started disappearing and their number dropped substantially by 2011 due to frequent encroachments. We need a holistic plan and that must be implemented on a war-footing based on the scientific inputs. Continuous monitoring and executing conservation strategies to free lakes from encroachments, dumping of garbage and building debris, discharge of effluents is the need of the hour," Ravi Kumar opined.

MGP President Dr. B.V. Shivamurthy, Treasurer K.V. Ramanath, C.R. Aswatha Narayana, S.V. Raghavendra, Dr. T.N. Manjunath, S.V. Raghavendra, Sreemathi Hariprasad, Arunkumar Shettar, Venkatesh Kharidi, B.S. Shankar, Vijayalakshmi Srinivasan, Sreemathy, Chandraprakash, Sheetal Nagarajaiah, Tanaka, Leela Shivakumar, Raghupathi, Parashurame Gowda, Druva Krishna, Vasanthkumar Mysoremath, Mahesh, K. Ramesha, Prasanna Malar, Indudhara Honnapura, Pramodkumar and others were present during the interactive session.

Fourth standard student's concern for trees, birds

Urges DC, DCF not to illuminate trees

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (MTY&KS)- Following installation of LED serial lights by nailing them on trees on various roads in city as part of Dasara illumination, a fourth standard student has urged the Deputy Commissioner (DC) and the Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) to stop the same.

P. Charvi

Expressing concern that nails on trees would kill the trees eventually and destroy the nesting birds which prefer shady green trees, P. Charvi, daughter of snake-rescuer Pradeep and a resident of Kaveri Main Road in Raghavendranagar in city, has requested the DC and the DCF to take action immediately.

In her letter to DC Dr. Bagadi Gautham and DCF Dr. V. Karikalan, Charvi said that illuminating trees would create problems to birds and nocturnal animals (animals that are active during the night and sleep during the day) and urged them to take steps to celebrate Dasara without disturbing the environment.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Charvi said that she is a bird-watcher and is learning to identify various birds and their habitats.

Pointing out that her father is a snake-rescuer, which has helped her develop interest in conservation and protection of birds and environment, Charvi said she was motivated by environmentalist and wildlife conservator Rajkumar Devaraj Urs.

She said after going through news item in SOM about serial lights being nailed to trees, she had written letters to the DC and DCF seeking their intervention to stop such practice.

WORD OF THE DAY

Misbegotten

Pronunciation: miss-bih-GAH-tun.
Meaning: Ill-conceived. It can also mean "having an improper origin."
Origin: In the beginning, there was begietan, and begietan begot beyeten; then in the days of Middle English beyeten begot begeten. All of the Old English and Middle English ancestors above basically meant the same thing as the modern beget — that is, "to father" or "to produce as an effect or outgrowth." That linguistic line with the prefix mis- (meaning "wrongly" or "badly") brought forth misbegotten.
Example: "... one of those misbegotten oddities that cheats you out of the film you imagine you'll be getting from its opening 10 minutes...." — Robbie Collin, The Daily Telegraph (London), 6 Aug. 2021.

THE ODD WORD

Madid

Wet; dank.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Miss the boat

Meaning: To miss a good opportunity.
Origin: This phrase is also common to use as a warning! For example: "don't miss the boat." Or "do it now before you miss the boat."
Example: "My friends are off to ski. I missed the boat this time, but I will join them next season."

QUOTE BOX

The sea is the same as it has been since before men ever went on it in boats.—Ernest Hemingway
